Bible Baptist Church

Sunday proved to be as successful a day as had been expected at the Bible Baptist Church. There was a record attendance in the Sunday School of 135 present on time. During the day a cash offering of nearly $1,000 was raised to help defray the building indebtedness.

The Special Song Service in the afternoon proved to be a great time of singing, with ten different groups participating. Among those taking part in the song service were: Park Avenue Baptist Church Trio, soloist, Mrs. Bob White, of Park Avenue Baptist Church; Arrington Girls' Quartet of Community Baptist Church, Brookneal; the Pine Ridge Male Quartet; Liberty Baptist Church Quartet; Worsham Street Baptist Church Quartet, of Farmville; a Mixed Quartet made up from those present, and also among the singers were those from our own number, which included a duet number by Dick Johnson and Helen Pierce, and solos by Patsy Farrar and Maurine McCormick.

The aggregrate attendance for all the services of the day was approximately 400 with a great number of visitors present.

Services will be conducted each night this week, Sept. 27 through October 3, at the Bible Baptist Church, in a great evangelistic effort, Rev. G. Thornton Hall will be the guest speaker each night at 7:30. Everyone is invited to join with us in glorifying God for what He has done and endeavor to win souls to Jesus Christ .

School Children Need Breakfast

An apple for the teacher is not nearly as important as a good breakfast—when it comes to making good grades. At Iowa State University of Iowa, the omission of breakfast was found to result in a poorer attitude toward school work and in poorer grades from scholastic achievements.

Sometimes mothers spend so much time fussing over the children and hair-do of their daughters that there's not enough time to eat a good breakfast. "Handsome is as handsome does" and without breakfast it's hard to keep alert all morning at school. Food for fast is a must for school children. Research has demonstrated that they will do more work, will be quicker in their thinking and reactions and will tire less easily especially in the late morning hours, when they eat a good breakfast.

An appetizing breakfast for a school age child, planned around a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, beef might include: tomato juice with beaten eggs, cooked cereal or corn flakes, milk for cereal and beverage, bran muffins, milk and beverage. "Better Breakfasts Build Better Families"—Is this the case in your home? Start now, during September Better Breakfast Month to improve the breakfast habits in your family.

Market Steady As Sales Of Yearling Cattle Begin

A steady market, with prices near last year's levels, was noted by V-P. I. beef cattle marketing specialists at the 1959 series of organized yearling steer sales began in Virginia.

During the first week of special state-graded yearling steer sales, most of the choice and fancy steers under 750 pounds were selling from $27.50 to $31. Those graded good in the same weight were bringing $27 to $29. The medium grade were mostly $26 and $27.

For the 750 to 900 pound cattle, prices were noticeably lower with choice and fancy steers moving at $25 to $27, and those grading good about the same. The mediums were around $23.50 to $25.50, and commons were $22.50 to $24.

Heavy yearlings and two - year olds weighing over 900 pounds, with some up to 1,050 pounds, sold from $23 to $25, with little spread between the grades. There were a few common heavyweights as low as $22.

A few yearling heifers were sold, most of them weighing from 600 to 700 pounds, and moving to Maryland and Ohio for $23 to $25.

Yearling sales this week are scheduled for September 30, in Staunton; Thursday in Roanoke, and Friday in Galax. One sale will be held next week, Tuesday October 6, in Harrisonburg.

Also getting underway last week were the 1059 feeder calf sales. Beginning Sept. 30 in Buena Vista, the immediate schedule calls for sales: October 1, Lynchburg; October 2, South Boston; October 6, Harrisonburg; October 7, Richmond, Petersburg and Dublin; October 8, Roanoke, and October 9, Winchester.

World Series begins today.
